

KU SCHOOL OF BUSINESS
DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI 1998
JOHN C. DICUS

---

Jack Dicus is the Chairman of Capital-Federal Savings in Topeka and received his Bachelor of Science from the KU School of Business in 1955. Jack has long promoted academic excellence at KU, encouraging alumni support and leading University organizations with wit and wisdom as a successful business executive. His astute understanding of organizational dynamics has helped strengthen programs and finances to assist the University.

His commitment to KU established an endowment for the Kansas Honors Program, which recognizes the top 10 percent of Kansas high school seniors. Jack serves KU through the Alumni Association, the School of Business Board of Advisors and the KU Endowment Executive Committee.

The University of Kansas awarded Jack with the Fred Ellsworth Medallion in 1990 for his wise and compassionate guidance.
