

5 Year Rule

If a student does not complete a business degree within five years of last attendance, the student must reapply through the competitive admission process. Students also must complete degree requirements in effect at the time of readmission to the School of Business regardless of the initial program. With consultation of the area director(s), the Undergraduate Appeals Committee has the authority to review petitions to the 5 Year Rule and make case by case exceptions as needed.

Effective: 5/24/07